

(a) light collected per photon emitted

(b) the volume that light comes from

Both MCF tips use the same ray tracer, band and quadrature, so (a) is a like-for-like ratio.

MM is a bare fiber, taken from the characterisation model: it beats the as-built tip but reads a far larger volume.